Memorial Day

Waterloo, New York, is widely recognized as the birthplace of Memorial Day as a state and federal holiday. The purpose was to honor the sacrifices made to preserve the freedom, peace, and future of this nation. The tradition keeps the memory of thousands more that have made the ultimate sacrifice.

There are thousands of heroic stories that can be shared on this day. These are stories of lives cut short and families losing spouses, siblings, children, and parents. The losses have been enormous, and the freedom that has been preserved is priceless. The freedom we enjoy was not purchased with gold or silver but with the blood, sweat, and tears of the ones that we honor today. They died so that we might live!

There was one other that came to give His live that we might live. Jesus, who put on human flesh, became one of us and gave His life for all of us. While we were dead in our sins and trespasses, He gave His life for us. He was without sin, and He took the judgment of God on our behalf. Jesus came that we might have life and have it abundantly. We are no longer enslaved to sin, but we are servants of God who have been set free to live lives that honor Him and bring peace with God to the world. It was the shedding of the blood of Jesus that won our salvation and His resurrection that sealed our pardon from sin, giving us hope for the life to come!

Indeed, there is no greater love than sacrificial love. Therefore, it is suitable to honor our loved ones and their sacrifice. So may we use the freedom that they bought to proclaim the love of God that is found in Christ Jesus!

AND THE SIGN SAID:

As you get older, and physically and mentally slow,
why does time speed up?

YEARLY BIBLE READINGS

You can read your Bible through in one year! Below is a format that lets you track how you are doing. Just check off each section as you go along. There are three readings for each day.

Have you read through the entire Bible yet? Make this the year.

Three verses a day keeps the blues away.

"The Speed of Time"

The pace of our world today is fast. Compared to our grandparents' era it is supersonic. Speed is everywhere from sports cars and boats, to jet plans and rocket launches. Travel time from point A to point B continues to decrease. With better roads and bridges our old 4 hour drive to Raleigh is now closer to 2 1/2 hours. Everyone is in a hurry and we demand immediate service.

How many times have you gone to the bank, fast food location, or gas filling station and quickly learned that you chose the slow line! And since we're in a hurry, it just doesn't work with our routine. Deadlines seem to arrive sooner than they used to and everyone has to be in multitasking mode. Internet connection has to be immediate and glitches have to be zero. Cell phone service and every app you can think of has to be there at the touch of a button. Speaking of buttons, we have way too many buttons, bells, and whistles on everything. And because of an overabundance of technology on the items we use and depend on, appliances go on the blink, cars, trucks, and tractors decide to stop, and your phones won't work when you need to call for help.

We've seen the signs: speed kills. In some ways the pace of society may be taking its own toll. We need to slow down, observe the speed limit, and enjoy the view. How many times have you gone past something several times before you actually notice it? As much as we've mentioned speed and the pace of life today, nothing is faster than Father Time, himself. As I've said before, when you were a child and the school year ended, summer would last forever. Now, as an adult, it seems to pass in a few short weeks. As much as we would like to slow down time, I don't think that is in the master plan. As much as we have advanced in our lifetimes, we still cannot control the speed of time.

Yours in faith, fellowship, and love,
Roy Daniels
